New England's Monthly Numismatic Catalog

Introducing a "New Look" Inventory Selections

In recent months, New England Rare Coin Galleries has been confronting a particularly difficult problem. With today's absolutely frantic demand for high-quality rare coinage, we've found our inventory turning over at an incredible rate — so incredible, in fact, that between the time our numismatists catalog our coins, and the time it takes the U.S. Postal System to deliver Inventory Selections to your door, many of the coins listed in this catalog have already been sold. We realize the frustration and disappointment this has caused some of you and, while we can never hope to eliminate the problem entirely, we are working to alleviate it.

One of our methods for doing this is to take greater care in the cataloging process itself. As you've probably noticed, this issue of Inventory Selections features a slightly smaller, more highly selective offering of coinage than previous issues. This is because we are no longer listing our entire inventory. We are only listing items that are not back-ordered or on multiple Want Lists — in other words, items that are most likely to still be available by the time you receive this catalog. Of course, you will still be competing with other Inventory Selections readers for these coins — so we still suggest that you order soon. However, with our new, select offerings, your competition from Want Lists and other "non-catalog buyers" will be sharply reduced.

This also means that New England has inventory not listed here, so if you're looking for specific items, give us a call. Better yet, send us your Want List. We'll use our computerized facilities to locate the coins you want and, as always, you will be under no obligation to purchase the coins once they've been found.

For those of you who enjoy seeing New England's complete inventory, we plan to produce special quarterly editions of Inventory Selections featuring our entire line of U.S. coinage and currency, plus an expanded section of feature articles, columns and news. We will keep you informed as plans for these special issues progress.

The Gallery Window

A special series profiling
New England Rare Coin Galleries' numismatic experts.

Tim LaPointe

Like many of today's top numismatic professionals, Tim LaPointe, New England's Director of Wholesale Operations, entered the rare coin field with a solid background of financial expertise. "Shortly after I graduated with a degree in Business from Pierce College in Los Angeles, I became Operations Manager for a mid-Western commodity options broker. I even spent a year running my own commodity options firm. But the rewards, both personally and financially, weren't really satisfying."

Tim was offered his first numismatic position in 1973. "I had a friend at the Numismatic Funding Corporation who knew my work and wanted me to restructure their operations. At that time, NFC had nearly zero inventory control. Some of their salesmen would leave coins in desk drawers overnight. And no one knew which inventory items were coming in or going out." Tim's efforts to systematize NFC's operations were so successful that, after only 2 years, he was awarded control of the company's wholesale division, the Old Roman Coin Company. "At the time, I think I did about 95% of Old Roman's wholesale selling — and I spent most of my time on the road, buying and selling collections." A year later, Tim decided to establish his own rare coin dealership. "But there was a problem with that. I had very limited funds, so I really couldn't afford to acquire a solid inventory. When Jim Halperin (New England's founder) eventually offered me a job, I saw an opportunity to do at New England what I couldn't do alone."

Tim LaPointe's present duties as Director of NERCG's Wholesale Operations include scheduling and planning New England's attendance at nationwide coin shows, aiding in the preparation of auction catalogs, appraising and purchasing rare coinage, and, of course, reporting current market conditions in Inventory Selections' monthly Market Report. Tim and his wife Beth have just bought a house west of Boston and, aside from numismatics, he enjoys sports (particularly baseball, which he played for awhile as a semi-pro, eventually landing a contract offer from the California Angels) and spending time with his two-year-old son, Jason. Tim sees the present frantic activity in rare coins as just a prelude of things to come, and has particular faith in the U.S. coin market. "I buy foreign gold coins, especially mid-range items, because I feel they're way underpriced and excellent buys right now. But I don't think they'll ever surpass U.S. coins — at least, not in this country. People have a tendency to invest in their own heritage first."

"You can see it, hear it, read it:
silver dollars are primed and ready."

Christopher Tracey
Vice-President, Retail Sales

"At all the coin shows, across all the teletypes, I hear dealers and collectors saying the same thing: silver dollars are primed and ready. The market's tastes are shifting. You can see it in today's bourse activity. You can hear it when bidders push up silver dollar prices at auction. You can even read it in places like the Wall Street Journal, where the U.S. Mint is publicizing its sale of over 900,000 uncirculated Carson City Morgans. Silver dollar collecting is on the verge of a major rebirth.

"I've no doubt that the Redfields will be in the center of that rebirth. These coins are among the most famous ever to hit the market. When they were first discovered, they made front-page headlines time and time again. They are still members of the world's largest privately-owned silver dollar collection. And the Redfield pieces offered by New England are among the finest in existence. I can think of no better opportunity for taking advantage of today's growing interest in this important area of numismatics."

Why were silver half dimes and nickel five cent pieces both minted between 1866 and 1873? There wouldn't seem to be a need for two equivalent coins. — J.D., Richmond, VA

The answer to your question lies a few years farther back, just after the beginning of the Civil War. When war broke out, people began hoarding and melting silver coins of every denomination. The resulting lack of small change interfered with trade all across the divided nation. To fill the gap, the government in the North issued large quantities of "fractional" paper money, in denominations from 3¢ to 50¢. The most numerous were 5¢ notes. At the same time, the Mint sharply reduced the number of silver coins minted, knowing that most of its output would never come into circulation anyway. (By law, they could not stop completely until the Coinage Act of 1873.)

The fractional notes were not legal tender, and despite the great need for small change, the government was not sure people would accept the new notes. To promote them, the Post Office guaranteed to accept them at any time in exchange for postage stamps. (The Mint's current efforts to circulate the Susan B. Anthony Dollar through the Postal Service is a good example of how numismatic history repeats itself.)

Various plans were made for the eventual redemption of the fractional notes. One proposal was for a reduced-weight silver coinage (which would not be profitable to melt down); another plan called for the use of aluminum, a metal then just as valuable as silver. Eventually, however, the nickel three cent and five cent pieces were adopted. Most of the fractional currency was quickly turned in in exchange for the new nickel coins.

When I browsed through your latest World Coin list I noticed several coins that had owls on them. I didn't know that owls were popular with ancient coin makers. Also, what was the significance of amphoras, which I also saw mentioned a couple of times? — M.D., East Greenwich, RI

To the Greeks, the owl was more than just a bird. Owls symbolized Athena, patron goddess of the city of Athens. Hers was the power to bestow wisdom, strength and courage upon mankind — and because of Athens' political ascendancy in Greece, she achieved a very high status among the pantheon of Greek gods.

Amphoras were ancient Greek jars or vases with long bodies, pointed bottoms and curved handles. They were used for storing oil, grain and wine. Highly decorated amphoras were sometimes given as prizes in athletic competitions.

On vacation in Puerto Rico last month I was pleasantly surprised to find a good selection of U.S. coins in a San Juan coin shop. It seems that U.S. coins have been circulating there since Puerto Rico became an American possession. Are there any other faraway places where U.S. coins might still be found? — S.K., Hinsdale, IL

The trade dollars of the 1870's are still frequently found in the Far East. Although most specimens bear "chop-marks" or counterstamps that bring down their price, many collectors feel that the marks — usually Chinese characters — add to the historical interest of the coins.

Another place to look is Liberia, in West Africa. The Republic of Liberia was founded in 1822 as a haven for freed American slaves, with the assistance of the American Colonization Society and funds appropriated by Congress. Since 1943, U.S. money has been legal tender in Liberia; but even before that, the historical and trade ties between the two countries brought quite a bit of U.S. coinage to Liberia. One evidence of the existence of U.S. coins in early Liberia is a Liberian 1847 pattern piece for a ten cent coin (Krause #3), several specimens of which are reported with the obverse die counterstamped on 1834 and 1843 U.S. Large Cents!

I'm often confused between what dealers call "Prooflike" and "Semi-Prooflike." Is there any consensus among dealers as to the definition of these terms? And can you account for the sudden popularity of Prooflike coins? — T.S., Hannibal, MO

Such a wide variety of minting conditions contribute to Prooflike characteristics that it is not always clear what catalogers mean by "Semi-Prooflike." In general, the degree of mirror-like reflectivity determines whether a coin is called Prooflike or Semi-Prooflike.

The most common cause of Prooflike surfaces in the Morgan Dollar series was the deliberate "basining" or polishing of the dies. A rotating zinc lap, coated with a lensgrinding abrasive moistened with water, was applied to the die. Occasionally, dies would be polished by the minting process itself — with the constant flow of silver across the die surfaces exerting a polishing action.

Other times, it is believed, actual Proof dies with highly polished surfaces were put into "business strike" service rather than being destroyed, resulting in Prooflike strikes. And in some cases, polished Proof planchets, left over from regular Proof strikings, found their way into regular production.

The attraction of collectors to Prooflike coins is easy to understand. They are often as attractive as Proofs, yet, in many series, they are much more widely available. One of the most challenging goals a collector can set for himself is to assemble a complete Prooflike set of Morgan Dollars.

Market Report

by Tim LaPointe

At the shows

Two major numismatic conventions highlighted trading activity last month: the 1980 Mid-Winter American Numismatic Association Convention (held February 14-17 in Albuquerque, New Mexico) and the Suburban Washington Numismatic Convention (held February 21-24 in Lanham, Maryland). Both shows were extremely well-attended and buying activity was heavy, with many price records reported broken both on the bourse floors and at convention auctions. One dramatic example: a common-date Proof $20 Liberty, with a scratch before Liberty's nose, brought $27,000 at the Suburban Convention's Numisco Auction.

Gold

Gold bullion is currently at $630 per ounce, down 5% from when we last reported to you. With this drop has come a further decline in bullion-related coinage such as Kruggerands and Maple Leaves. However, this downward trend has again left common-date gem U.S. gold coins, proof gold and gold rarities unaffected. Demand for these items proved just as strong in February as it had been in January. At the Mid-Winter A.N.A. Convention for example, a 1913-S Indian Head Eagle traded hands at what we believe to be a record-high five-figure price; an 1842-C Small Date Liberty Half Eagle also sold for a high five-figure amount; and at the Numisco Auction, a Panama-Pacific Commemorative Set sold for $150,000 to a dealer. Strong trading like this indicates that even while bullion demand fluctuates, buyers of high-quality gold are showing unwavering confidence in the numismatic market.

Silver

Silver bullion prices have also experienced fluctuation over the past weeks, although the over-all trend seems to be upward. Silver is now selling at $35 per ounce, up 5% since our last Market Report. Bullion-related silver coinage has risen accordingly, and collectible silver coinage has continued to show strong gains. Especially hot silver items right now include gem Mercury Dimes with split bands, Washington Quarters, Walking Liberty Half Dollars and Franklin Half Dollars in true gem condition. In fact, 1949-S Franklin Half Dollar Rolls have gone up $750 in only one week.

Silver dollars, however, have been the most talked-about area of silver numismatics in recent weeks. Almost all silver dollars are starting to show strong signs of breaking out of the inactivity of the recent past. The Carson City Sale is bolstering investor interest in this area of the market, and the items bringing the highest prices are strictly-graded dollars in MS-65 or better condition. Just one example: a common-date Proof Morgan was recently reported sold for $18,000 between dealers.

Nickel, Copper, Commemoratives

Shield, Buffalo and wartime Jefferson Nickels are all showing strong gains, with Proofs in 65 or better condition leading the way. 1938 common-date Buffalo Nickel rolls are now bringing bids of $1,400 on the wholesale level, but even these prices aren't producing many sellers.

Almost all copper coinage in MS-65 and Proof-65 conditions are showing strong weekly gains. One 1877 Indian Cent we know of traded hands six times between dealers at the Suburban Washington Convention. Strong copper trading of this sort is, of course, bringing with it rapid price increases for all sorts of better-date and grade copper coinage.

U.S. Currency

The growing interest in high-quality U.S. Currency experienced a sharp upturn in February. This was exemplified by New England's own currency sales volume last month. Virtually all of the top-quality notes we offered in the February Inventory Selections were sold only days after the catalog's release. At the recent Mid-Year A.N.A. and Suburban Washington Conventions, there was a dearth of truly nice currency, and the few pieces available were quickly traded in dealer-to-dealer transactions within the first day of each show. It seems that many major coin dealers are now turning to U.S. Currency to fill the gaps in their dwindling rare coin inventories.

Most notably, Fractional Currency Specimens (the "patterns" of U.S. Currency) have shown wide activity and interest in recent weeks. In addition, Small Size U.S. Currency continues to show great strength — particularly Hawaiian Notes — with many dealers vying for the chance to purchase examples of the very scarce $20 Hawaiian.

World Coins

World gold coinage continues to lead the ancient and foreign coin markets. Dealers at a recent show in Switzerland were offering almost $5,000 for gem quality 1937 Great Britain Gold Proof Sets. This is about double the buy price of less than one year ago!

Top quality foreign coins, regardless of denomination, have been fetching up to five times their catalog values in many instances. Puerto Rican 1895 Pesos in MS-65 have been purchased by dealers at around $2,000 — and yet catalog for only $800.

Numismatics is a world unto itself — vast in scope, rich in history, fascinating in detail. To explore this world is to be captivated by it — and to explore it fully is to become a member of the American Numismatic Association. The American Numismatic Association (the A.N.A.) is the world's largest and most active numismatic organization. And when you join, you'll receive:

- ☐ The Numismatist — A scholarly monthly magazine sent free to all regular, club, junior and life A.N.A. members (see dues box below). Through The Numismatist you'll expand your collecting horizons and become knowledgeable in a wealth of numismatic subjects.
- ☐ ANACS Service — The A.N.A.'s grading and authentication service for all your coins at a special membership rate.
- ☐ Use of the A.N.A. Library — The largest numismatic library in the world from which you can borrow all kinds of numismatic reference works.
- ☐ Insurances — Offered through the A.N.A. for your collection, your health, and your life.

A U.S. CURRENCY SPECIAL VALUE

CUT SHEETS OF U.S. LARGE SIZE SILVER CERTIFICATES AT SPECIAL VALUES

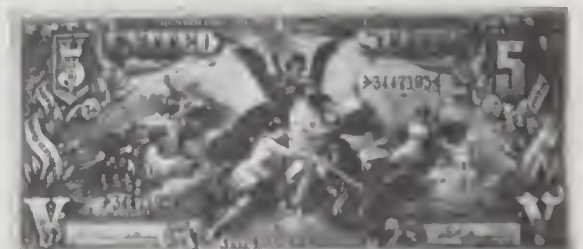

Large Size Notes are among the most avidly-sought examples of collectible U.S. Currency — and high-grade sheets of such notes have proven particularly popular. Now, New England Rare Coin Galleries offers an extremely select number of Large Size Silver Certificate Cut Sheets, FR #237 and FR #238. These sheets were issued in 1923, just 6 years before U.S. Currency was reduced to its present 6" x 2 3/4" size. The design on these bills was the last ever issued on Silver Certificates prior to that size reduction. Because of the limited availability of these sheets, we ask that you order soon.

Our Complete Numismatic Services

1. Guarantees

☐ Grading

We guarantee that coins purchased from us are graded correctly and will meet our high standards when you wish to sell them. Further, we guarantee to purchase these coins at the same grade at which they were sold, or sell them for you at auction cataloged at the same grade at which you purchased them.

Our grading system is patterned after that of the American Numismatic Association. Developed in 1978, the A.N.A. System is rapidly being adopted by virtually the entire professional numismatic community. Its designations are:

Poor.....	1
Fair.....	2
About Good.....	3
Good.....	4,5
Very Good.....	8,10
Fine.....	12,15
Very Fine.....	20,25,30,35
Extremely Fine.....	40,45
About Uncirculated.....	50,55,58
Mint State.....	60,63,64,65,66,67,69,70
Proof.....	60,63,65,67,69,70

Slash grades indicate obverse/reverse designations. For example, a grade of 65/63 describes a coin with an obverse of Mint State 65 and a reverse of Mint State 63.

☐ Authenticity

We further guarantee that all coins sold by New England Rare Coin Galleries are authentic. To protect our customers, and as proof of our certainty that no altered or counterfeit coin can escape our attention, we guarantee to refund the full purchase price plus 15% compound annual interest, on any non-authentic coin acquired from us.

☐ Documentation

These guarantees are issued in writing with all coins purchased from New England Rare Coin Galleries. Each written guarantee is personally endorsed by two professional numismatists.

☐ Satisfaction

If, for any reason, you are not satisfied with your purchases, you may return them within 45 days of the date you received them for a full refund or replacement.
